New Younger Executives Now Head U. S. Steel

Benjamin F. Fairless

Edward R. Stettinius

Change in executive personnel of huge United States Steel corporation places 38-year-old Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., now head of the finance committee, as chairman of the board, succeeding Myron C. Taylor, 63. Benjamin F. Fairless, 47, now head of the subsidiary, Carnegie-Illinois Steel Co., becomes president, succeeding William A. Irvin, 63, who is made vice chairman of the board, a new post. E. M. Voorhees, vice chairman of the finance committee, takes over the position held by Stettinius, as chairman effective April 3. At the quarterly board meeting at which this reorganization was announced, an $8,700,000 dividend was declared on common stock, the first in five years.

port the national administration, Congressman John McSweeney of meeting at the Memorial building last night to avoid "killing the goose that lays the golden egg."Although discussing mostly national affairs, McSweeney, who is a nephew of the late W. H. Mul-coming municipal election with the expression that "a good Democratic national government can not exist without a good local government.""It is more important for you to elect capable city officials than state and national legislators," he declared. "As a member of congress the speaker's platform.Cook called for the city's Democrats to "smash the Republican machine so badly in the off-years that members of the party will not have the courage to come back in the national election."He, too, emphasized the impor-

Farmers Paying Up

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The Farm Credit Administration reported today farmers are repaying loans twice as rapidly as they borrowed in the district embracing Ohio, Tennessee, Kentucky and Indiana.Ernest Rice, president of the Federal land bank of Louisville, told the administration loans for the first nine months of 1937 totaled $9,500,000, and repayments on previous loans totaled $13,667,000 in the same period. He said the repayment figure included $5,000,000 in fully paid loans.NOTICE, EAGLES!

rested and fined on charges rising out of the steel strike.The check covered the fines and costs of 97 who pleaded guilty to a total of 198 strike indictments.
United Rubber Workers of America previously had paid $1,100 in fines for 40 of its members charged with attempting an "invasion" of the city to aid the steel workers.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Attitudes of "no surrender" by both factions in organized labor's civil war created a widespread belief today that the week's recess of the peace conference might last indefinitely.An American Federation of Labor statement last night said:
"We have not received any help from the representatives of the committee for Industrial Organization. Unless there is a change in their attitude . . . it is doubtful if any progress can be made toward peace."

CIO Won't "Surrender"

The federation's peace committee had just heard its own peace terms rejected by the CIO delegates in equally strong language. Philip Murray, CIO peace committee chairman, said the AFL offer would mean "surrender" and was wholly unacceptable.The CIO made the first peace proposal Tuesday. In brief, it called for the CIO to fly the AFL flag but to remain virtually an independent department.The AFL would have none of that.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The federal reserve board, apparently seeking to stem the tide of stock market selling, has issued regulations which in effect will make it easier to buy securities than to sell them.The new rules, effective Monday, will cut from 55 to 40 per cent the amount of cash which traders must put up for the purchase of stocks and will require a 50 per cent margin on short sales.This readjustment of credit con-against short selling.Difference of $10

Short selling, on which the federal reserve board has imposed new margin requirements, is selling in anticipation of a drop in securities values.If a stock is selling for $50, for instance, a trader may sell shares at that price in the expectation the price will drop before the contracted date of delivery. In brokerage practice, he need not have the stock in his possession at the time of the sale.If the stock fell to $40 before he had to deliver it, he could buy at that price and make a $10 a share profit.If, on the other hand, the stock went up to $60, he would lose $10 a share.up only $40 in cash. If he wants to sell the same security short, he will have to hand over $50 in cash.The new requirement on short selling is the first ever imposed by the board. The rule heretofore has been one by the stock exchange requiring a 10-point margin.The board regulation was drafted in cooperation with the securities commission after reserve system legal experts reported it would not transcend authority granted under the federal reserve law.Initial reaction in Wall street was uniformly favorable to the cut in margins on the buying side, but the requirements on short sales came as a surprise to some traders.The consensus appeared to be commission at the denomination's international convention after a two-year study.It introduced a resolution pro-personal fitness for the ministry.

2. A full college course or its equivalent and, if possible, graduate the midst of scores of Japan's ris-

from Chapei yesterday, the lone Chinese force held out tonight in warehouses along Soochow creek, adjoining the international settle-

LIKE SPRING

The importance of the automobile business—20 per cent of steel output, half a million workmen engaged in production, etc.—has become so completely a matter of statistics and economic cause and effect that the consumers who make this fundamental industry possible are neglected.

Manufacturers and salesmen know that if they turn out a good automobile and if their good automobile is turned out in a good year they will sell as many as they can put on the market. They now take the factor of demand for granted.

The fact is, they're right. But isn't it, after all, an amazing thing that there has been created an affinity between Americans and automobiles so strong that no one worries any more about how to make the public buy new cars, but only how to make the necessary number of customers buy a particular kind of new car?

Psychologically, this is something like the universal urge in springtime "to do something about it." Yet, the urge to own a car has come about in a relatively short time, less than a quarter of a century, whereas spring has been a recurrent stimulus since the beginning of history.

No wonder the automobile industry dreams of a day when men and women in every part of the world will be inspired by the urge to own and operate a new automobile. The United States is only the beginning. When Australian bushmen and African headhunters begin to wait for new models, too, that will really be something.

POSTPONEMENT

A cabinet crisis in Belgium where rightists and leftists are plying that great political game, rule or ruin, has resulted in a three-day postponement of the nine power treaty conference on the Chinese-Japanese war. It was scheduled to convene in Brussels on Saturday.

It is noted that Belgium saw no reason why its domestic squabbles should keep the conference from convening next Saturday on schedule. Decision, however, was put up to Great Britain and other nations planning to be represented. They decided to wait till next Wednesday, with suspicious promptness.

Probably, the decision was as easy to make as postponement of a professional baseball game on a day when all the pitchers are tired and the first string shortstop can't be located. In a case like that, there's nothing to lose by waiting for a better day.

Certainly, at this point, with Japan undecided whether to attend the conference or not and with other signatories showing no relish for grabbing a bear by the tail, it is a matter which very conveniently could be put off till the 29th of some February.

ON THREE COUNTS

The interesting C. I. O. proposal that it should become a distinct and autonomous division of the A. F. of L. having sole rights to organize workers in mass production, marine, public utilities, service and basic fabricating industries, raises questions on three counts of human experience.

The proposal runs contrary to the fundamental physical law that two bodies cannot occupy the same space at the same time.

It runs contrary to the prevailing belief that there is no way under the sun for in-laws to get along in the same house with the proprietary tenants.

It is in opposition to the saying that the tail should not wag the dog.

A distinct and autonomous division of the A. F. of L. with more members and more aggressive leaders than the original organization simply doesn't sound like one of those things that can be done, or that would work out well if it were done.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Oct. 28—At a bathroom window this morning, gazing out on New York going to work I was impressed with the way the town fairly scoots along. From an apartment spire near by a rabbit man rushed a half block one way, a half block the other, then pounced into a taxi.

He was a symbol of Manhattan's tempo, emulating Leacock's horseman who mounted his steed and rode off in all directions. As a burgher taking the village largely afoot, I have long noticed how few there are who permit walking to diminish to a leisurely stride.

Somewhat, walking along and observing things brackets one as a gawk—a jasper who couldn't handle a French menu at the Ritz. As a matter of fact, like Paris, New York was made for the promenade. It is a veritable paradise for the saunterer.

Nowhere has the window dresser's art attained such skill. Versailles with its fountains aspry in miniature. Papier mache golfers swinging over their courses. A half million strand of pearls against a fluff of black velvet. Pocket movies of travel bureaus showing lands afar. And so on.

Few high-powered executives work so hard and relax so successfully as Conde Nast. In the mid-Victorian sense and not according to Broadway interpretation, he is probably Manhattan's most perfect man-about-town. His parties are a successful mingling of society, stage and literati, and he is always present at auspicious first nights. A fashion plate without ostentation, he is regarded by many as the best-groomed man in the metropolis.

Somewhere I have read that Carl Hubbell, the Giants crack pitcher, as a farm boy near Carthage, Mo., spent hours throwing stones at a barn door until he could hit knot holes no bigger than a dime. In these days of delving into the complexes of the young, the experts would probably ticket such monotony as sub-normal. In a boarding house where I used to reside the landlady had a son, aloof and detached for one of 15 years, who spent all his time fooling with the innards of a clock. He never played with other children and most of us boarders thought him "queer." Yet at 23 he invented an automobile device that made him independent. All of which suggests that parents let boys alone during formative years so long as they are not in bad company and up to no mischief. Marconi was a brooding nipper, always tinkering and putting and apparently accomplishing nothing.

Few men in journalism occupied a place as unique as Ed Howe. Or wrote so vigorously to the end. My affection for him was deep. In floundering around to syndicate a column, he was the first editor and writer of prominence to throw me a life line. Something of mine in the Kansas City Star pleased him and he took time out of a busy life to cheer me on my way. Later when we were both wintering at Miami Beach we had many afternoons at the races, and motor rides together. Several times a year we exchanged letters and his last one, almost an undecipherable sprawl, because his blindness was nearly total, wound up dismally with: "There is not much to do now but wait, but after 82 years of it one doesn't mind."

Thingumbobs. Broadway's most beloved press agent was Ray Henderson, killed recently in an airplane crash-land in Greece. . . . Both of Will Rogers's sons are earnest gum chewers, just like their Dad. . . . John Chapman, of the Daily News, is the only linguist among the columnists. . . . Corey Ford, who loves to fish and makes it pay writing articles about it, has a dozen fishing flies named for him.

Pastel: A boy and girl in the Waldorf lounge having cocktails. He was one of those bright fellows who does not have much money, but gets around. They were to have cocktails, go to his apartment where he was "to get an important telephone call" and then out to dinner. The table was dotted with dishes of pop corn, pretzels, peanuts and potato chips. The young man was making heavy inroads on the outlay. The girl was drinking quietly. Finally the boy, jokingly: "Why Anna, you are not eating a thing." And she, eyeing the nuts, chips, etc., a shade contemptuously, mumbled: "Yes, and I'll probably regret it later on."

THE STARS SAY:

For Friday, October 29

A day of surprising activity, with developments of a sudden and far-reaching effect on the future fortunes, is read from a long chain of planetary configurations. These may affect the private as well as business lives, with many quite unpredictable influences. New matters may come to a head with sudden force, and the romantic, social or domestic life may encounter adventures of a surprising or mysterious nature. With a modicum of precaution all should flourish, bringing excellent opportunities for success and happiness.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of sudden and surprising events that may have a rather revolutionary effect on the private as well as business lives. Changes, journeys, removals, strangers and new opportunities may come in swift succession, bringing progress, romance, adventure and prosperity of a surprising character.

A child born on this day may be original, inventive, romantic and adventurous, making contacts and friendships in life that may lift it to the heights of popularity and prestige. Romantic love may have a large part in this.

In looking over the questionnaire to be used in the jobless census, we are surprised to discover there is no question asking, "Would you rather have a job or go fishing?"—Ohio State Journal.

That "important" special session of Congress will cost the taxpayers at least $1,500,000—but that doesn't concern Roosevelt in the least.

Here is a news item saying, "Italy has recalled—perhaps as an evidence of good faith—300 of its volunteers." They are all wounded.

The recent elections in France gave Premier Chautemps a vote of confidence, but even that does not solve all its problems.

AVITAMINOSIS

When I first started to practice medicine, nothing was known of "avitaminosis." The very word had not yet been proposed. But today not only are physicians familiar with this term, but I venture to say many lay persons know its meaning. Avitaminosis, as the word indicates, is that abnormal physical condition which is caused by the lack of a vitamin of vitamins.

In order to prevent disturbances due to vitamin deficiency, it is essential that every infant and young child be supplied with foods rich in the essential vitamins. For example, it is well known that milk, which is the chief article of food in the infant's diet, contains a good amount of vitamin A. But it is not as rich in vitamins B, C and D. For this reason, it is now advised to add to the diet of the infant and your child certain other natural foods and preparations which carry these necessary vitamins.

What Is Given

To this end the infant is given orange juice, or other fruit juices, at an early age. The child is quickly placed on cod liver oil, cereals and broths. These feeding practices were unheard of in former years. We have learned better. In spite of this, however, the infant and older child are often deprived of these additional and necessary foods; in consequence, the evil effects of avitaminosis occur.

A lack of vitamin A in the diet of a child leads to certain disorders of the eyes. In adults it may result in a lowering of the resistance of the body, with disorders of the eyes. Such diseases as pellagra, as well as many disturbances of the skin, are caused by the lack of vitamin B. A deficiency in vitamin C will lead to the disease known as scurvy, not common now as compared to the old times.

Causes Rickets

Most persons are familiar with the fact that a lack of vitamin D in the diet will cause rickets. This was an extremely common disease in Europe and America until very recent years. Although it was not a fatal disease, it often caused marked deformities of the extremities, ribs, and other bones.

The disease has been made to disappear by the universal use of cod liver oil. Today, in a large city such as New York, even among Negro children who are unusually susceptible to rickets, the disease has been controlled.

The diet of the infant and child can be so regulated as to prevent these vitamin deficiency disorders. They are preventable diseases, easily controlled. Certain constitutional disorders of adult life can be prevented when the diet is varied and rich in vitamins and minerals.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

WEAPONS AND YOUTH

Editor, The News: Is it right to supply our children with toy weapons of war? In these days when the world atmosphere is surcharged with the spirit of war, and banditry, it is difficult to bring up children with peace principles.

A few days ago, in a certain village, the tiny daughter of highly-respected Christian parents pointed a toy pistol at a lady, a stranger who was passing, and ordered, in true bandit style, "Stick 'em up! Stick 'em up!"

What is our duty to the rising generation?

Diabetes Treatment "Find" Is Reported

(By Associated Press)
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 27.—A new method of treating diabetes with insulin swallowed in small tablets instead of by injections with a hypodermic needle, was forecast today before the national academy of sciences.

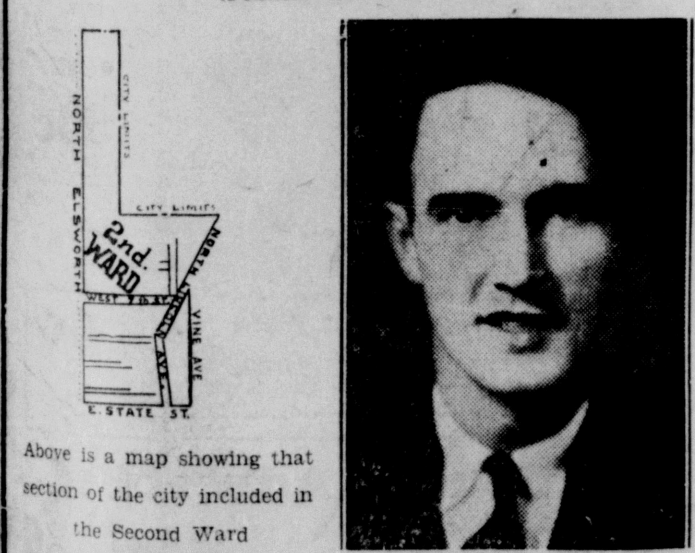

Three University of Rochester physicians, Dr. John R. Murlin, Dr. Lawrence E. Young, and Dr. William A. Phillips, announced that they had successfully treated some human beings and dogs suffering from diabetes with the new solid preparation.

The compound is composed of insulin and hexyl-resorcinol, a common antiseptic and fever-reducing drug. The resorcinol acts as an emulsifier to clean fat from the linings of the stomach and intestines by making it more soluble in water than it normally is.

The University of Rochester experimenters had previously shown that insulin can be absorbed through the stomach and intestines and then acts in the ordinary way to burn up the excess sugar in the blood which produces diabetes.

Vitamins A & D

HERE AT LAST
is an All-Purpose Margarine so pleasing to the palate... so rich in nutritional value, so pure and wholesome that it will win a place in your home immediately for use on your table and in cooking. You'll be surprised that anything so good can cost so little.

IT HAS SUCH A DELIGHTFUL FLAVOR
AND IT'S SO NUTRITIOUS!

AN IMPORTANT 3-VALUE FOOD ON YOUR TABLE 3 TIMES A DAY

• Parkay on your table three times a day—for breakfast, for dinner, for supper, will help your family with 3 important food elements which everyone needs in abundance.

1 VITAMIN A The high nutritional value of Parkay is increased by the addition of Vitamin A, which is absolutely essential to growth.
Your family may not be getting enough of this important vitamin. Parkay will help make up any deficiency.

2 VITAMIN D Vitamin D, the "sunshine" vitamin, adds to the nutritional value of Parkay... takes it completely out of the class of ordinary margarine. The Vitamin D will help in the formation of strong, straight bones and hard, well-shaped teeth.

3 ENERGY Parkay is one of the best foods you can give your family for energy because the pure vegetable oils from which it is made are among the best of all energy foods. Active people burn up energy rapidly. They need plenty of energy food, like Parkay.

Makes it with Parkay

FOR COOKING Parkay is far superior to common shortenings, and for cake-making, pie-crusts, cookies—in fact all baking. And you'll find it ideal for pan frying... it never spatters.

Eat it with Parkay

FOR TABLE USE... Parkay is a delicious spread for bread... a rich, wholesome seasoning for potatoes and other vegetables. Use it freely for its food values... it's so much better and costs so little!

Today! USE PARKAY

Methodist Circles Plan Activities For Winter

Methodist church circles met Wednesday afternoon, several of the groups making plans at that time for their annual Thanksgiving benefits and Christmas meetings.

Circle No. 1
Mrs. Harmon Reeves of North Ellsworth ave., entertained 18 members of Circle 1 and a guest at her home at the regular quarterly birthday dinner. Mrs. Ed. Alexander and Mrs. A. H. Fuhs were associate hostesses.

After a business meeting, when Mrs. Ina Yengling led devotionals, a social hour was enjoyed.

The place for the Nov. 17 meeting has not been chosen.

Circle No. 2
Circle 2 held rally day observance at the home of Mrs. S. D. Whinnery, Newgarden rd., welcoming two new members.

Mrs. Harry Burd was in charge of devotionals. Mrs. N. L. Reich was named as chairman of a benefit to be held this month. A new feature, the "traveling basket," was introduced and Mrs. Harry Kaufman and Mrs. James Prim named as stewards.

Attractive yearbooks were distributed by the program committee which includes Mrs. F. J. Stout, Mrs. John Wingard and Mrs. Oscar Mellinger.

Roll call response was "A Woman of Interest to Me." Mrs. Holland Cameron gave a talk on "What to Read," listing a number of the newer books. Mrs. George Meiser gave two readings.

Lunch was served during the social hour by Mrs. Whinnery, her daughter, Mrs. Edith Santee, and Mrs. Kaufman.

The meeting in November will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Mellinger, Vine ave.

Circle No. 3
Circle 3 members were entertained at the home of Mrs. H. N. Loop, Cleveland st., with 20 members and one guest present.

Following devotionals, led by Mrs. C. L. Smith, a business session was held. Members heard a delightful review of the book, "The Mother," given by Mrs. L. W. Matthews.

A social hour and a lunch concluded the meeting. Assisting Mrs. Loop were Mrs. P. C. O'Neill, Mrs. R. R. McGhee, Mrs. A. S. Fisher and Mrs. G. W. McKee.

Mrs. John Grove, Madison ave., will be in charge of the meeting next month.

Circle No. 4
Circle 4, meeting at the home of Mrs. Oscar Bailey, Washington ave., transacted regular business and made arrangements for the annual Thanksgiving benefit.

Mrs. Margaret Scott was in charge of the devotionals. Mrs. W. L. Hart and Mrs. R. H. McCann, who previously returned from a trip through the south, told members of their travels.

Lunch was served by the hostess. The next meeting of the circle will be held in December, since activities arranged for November will cancel the meeting for that month.

Circle No. 5
Mrs. J. L. Culp of Columbiana was hostess to Circle 5 at her home. Mrs. Brudery had charge of the program which consisted of games and contests. J. L. Culp led the devotionals.

The quarterly birthday dinner, regularly held in December, will be held one week earlier to avoid conflict with Thanksgiving festivities.

Mrs. J. S. Gallagher, Mrs. George Gilbert and Mrs. Brudery were associate hostesses.

Mrs. C. F. Zimmerman Relief Officer
Mrs. C. F. Zimmerman of Salem was named district press correspondent during election of officers at the District 14 convention of the Ohio Women's Relief Corps in Lisbon recently.

Other officers are: President, Addie Howell of Canton; senior vice president, Carrie E. Osborne of Youngstown; national convention delegate, Mabel West of Canton; national convention alternate, Lulu Harvey of East Palestine.

Among the state officers present at the district conference were: State President Grace Brady of Pennsylvania, I. and I. Officer Elsie Beelman of Cleveland, Organizer Lena Richards of Youngstown, and Mae Marsh of Conneaut, chairman of the department executive board.

William McKinley corps of Canton will entertain the district convention at the next meeting.

Six Tables In Play At Bridge Games

Six tables were in play last evening when duplicate bridge players met for their bi-weekly session in the Memorial building.

The scores were: North and South, Mrs. Vincent Judge and Richard Strain, 68½; Vincent Judge and Walter Strain, 68; Donald Burcaw and Conrad Berg, 61½; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kirkbride, 61. East and West, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hostetter, 71½; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Windle, 68½; Mrs. Fannie Post and Miss Ella Kirkbride, 63; Walter Berg and Mrs. Conrad Berg, 54.

Members of P. H. C. Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hopson entertained 20 members of the Protestant Home circle recently at their home on East Fifth st. A business meeting was followed by "500" and a lunch. High scorers were Mrs. Wilbur Vignon, Mrs. Frank York, Harry Gardner and Frank York. A delightful lunch was served by the hostess.

The circle will hold weekly meetings during the winter months in celebration of 51 years of continued service.

Mrs. Lee Vincent To Be Hostess

The November committee of the Presbyterian church Women's Association will have a social Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Lee Vincent, Canfield rd.

For transportation members are asked to meet at the Lincoln Lease drug store at 7:30. A full attendance is desired.

Stitch and Chatter Club Convenes

Stitch and Chatter club associates held a birthday handkerchief shower last evening for Mrs. Philip Bush at her home in Damascus. The evening was spent informally and lunch was served.

U. S. AWAITING WINDSORS' TRIP

Duke and the Duchess Plan Double Swing Across U. S. to Hollywood and Back to Miami

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 28.—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are planning a double swing across the United States from New York to Hollywood and back to Miami, a close associate disclosed today.

They will travel with about 70 trunks and a retinue of six persons, he explained. The westward trip would take the former British monarch and his American-born wife along a northern route while the eastward journey would be through the south.

This member of the duke's suite emphasized that the exact itinerary of the five-week tour was still under discussion. The duke and duchess will sail Nov. 6 on the liner Bremen.

After arrival in Florida they planned to visit a Caribbean island not yet decided upon. A friend of the couple said Washington and Pittsburgh already were on the list of places likely to be visited. Windsor's associate added that some industrial areas of New England were almost certain to be included.

The retinue for the American tour will include Windsor's equerry, Dudley Richard Forwood, and Bodyguard David Storer.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bedaux, American hosts of the couple when they were married at Chateau de Cande last June, may accompany them part of the way after preparing a welcome for them in New York.

The duke would take a valet, it was said, while the duchess would have two maids. There also would be a secretary to handle correspondence for both.

The luggage undoubtedly will include sport and light clothing for the warmer states in addition to the usual formal and informal apparel.

Too Many "Apples"
PHILADELPHIA, Pa.—The "Big apple" dance craze closed a liquor store here.

Dancers in a hall over the store became so enthusiastic doing the "big apple" the store's ceiling fell. There were no casualties among the whiskey bottles.

Progressive Mothers Hear Address

Progressive Mothers circle, meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Arthur Smith, North Ellsworth ave., heard an address on "Pediatrics" by Dr. Guy Byers.

In speaking of the care of children and treatment of their diseases, Dr. Byers advocated the isolation of children ill with common colds to prevent the spread of the ailment. He conducted an open discussion on the evening's subject following his talk.

Mrs. Lowell Brown read a paper on "Recreation" in which was discussed the advantages of day nurseries and playgrounds.

The circle will hold a benefit bridge at the Memorial building on Saturday, Nov. 12. The funds from the benefit will be used to further projects for the care of underprivileged children in Salem at Christmas.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Richard Wilson, 1058 Maple st.

Attend Meeting of Mission Units

A group of nine women members of the Baptist church, attended an all-day meeting of the Women's Missionary societies of the Baptist churches of Wooster association in Canton yesterday.

The group included: Miss Frances Leasure, Mrs. John Kirchgessner, Mrs. B. H. Calkins, Mrs. Elwood Hammel, Mrs. Frank Brudery, who had part in the day's program, Mrs. Richard Stirling, Mrs. S. T. Magann, Mrs. Ralph Snyder and Mrs. L. H. Taylor.

Salona Supply Co. Staff At Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Woolman of Winona entertained 18 members of the Salona Supply Co. staff at an oyster supper last evening at their home.

Guests presented Mr. Woolman a gift. Mr. and Mrs. Woolman will leave Sunday for Sebring, Fla., where he will assist their son James DeWeese, in a business enterprise this winter.

WINNERS LISTED IN CORN CONTEST

Wyandot and Fairfield County Entrants Are Victors in State Husking Event

UPPER SANDUSKY, Oct. 28.—Noble Goodman of Wyandot county and Harold Oatney of Fairfield county shared Ohio corn husking championships today, winners of 80-minute final events of the annual state contest.

Goodman, who stripped 2,346.6 net pounds of corn from standing stalks, and Oatney, who husked 1,329.1 pounds from the shock, won over 19 other entrants in each class at the Simpson farm adjoining the Wyandot county fair grounds here yesterday.

T. J. Fechan of Wood county husked 2,296.4 pounds of standing corn to place second and join Goodman as Ohio's entries in the national contest at Marshall, Mo., Nov. 4. There is no national shock husking contest.

Third and fourth places in standing corn competition went to William Anderson of Ross county with 2,268.6 pounds and Earl Spence of Marion county with 2,261.8 pounds respectively.

Other shock class winners were: Lester Bennett of Henry county, second with 1,327.2 pounds; Guy Hoffman of Fayette county, third with 1,244.4 pounds, and Homer Conaway of Ross county, fourth with 1,777.2 pounds.

Hit Crop Control

REPORTS JAPAN IN PEACE MOVE

United States, Britain Would Confer With Hirota In Tokyo

(By Associated Press)
PARIS, Oct. 28.—Japan is disposed to accept friendly conversations with interested powers, including particularly the United States, looking toward eventual restoration of peace between Japan and China, a high Japanese authority said tonight.

As the American delegation enroute to Brussels, enroute to the nine power conference which Japan has declined to attend, this Japanese authority suggested that the Brussels conference might give a mandate to interested powers to open peace negotiations at Tokyo and Nanking.

The idea broached was that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, American Ambassador to Japan, and Sir Robert L. Craigie, British ambassador, would talk with Foreign Minister Koki Hirota in Tokyo. The American and British ambassadors to Nanking then could sound out the Chinese government.

INSURANCE MEN HIT POLITICS

Advocate Return of Relief Administration to Local Governments and Private Groups

TOLEDO, Oct. 28.—The Ohio Association of Insurance Agents was on record today approving a report of their secretary, John A. Lloyd, advocating the return of relief administration to local governments and private charitable associations.

The report said such action would "eliminate politics" and "toss the professional reliefers out of the board and get down to actual necessities from the standpoint of giving help."

The report also advocated the state fire marshal's office should "be taken out of politics, adequately financed and made efficient or it should be abolished."

A resolution condemning the practice of companies which negotiate insurance on financed automobiles through non-resident brokers and finance companies without the participation of the local agents, was adopted by the convention.

Austin McElroy of Columbus was elected president of the association and L. G. Jones, Youngstown, vice president.

The three new trustees named for three year terms are: Michael Hallineau, Springfield; Eugene S. Davis, Cleveland, and Theodore Safford, Cincinnati.

Lesson In Hunting

SEATTLE — A luckless hunter dropped wearily to a log, when a big elk crashed through the brush and dropped dead at his feet. He quickly applied his game seal to the elk's horns.

A moment later another sportsman came up, rifle smoking. He took in the carcass, hunter and seal, then stalked on, muttering:

"By golly, mine can't be very far away."

COLLAPSE SEEN IN LABOR PARLEY

"No Surrender" Attitudes On Both Sides Arouse Speculation

The federation's peace committee proposed that John L. Lewis' unions dissolve the CIO and march back into the AFL to fight for their principles at federation conventions.

The federation charged that Murray "issued a public statement rejecting our proposal without advising the conference."

It spoke of "extravagant and unsupported" CIO membership claims and defended its own peace terms as affording "a reasonable opportunity of healing the breach."

AFL Statement
"We offered to continue an intensive campaign along both industrial and craft lines," the AFL statement said.

On analysis, the federation said, the CIO plan offers "no basis of settlement" and "simply means a continuation and enlargement of the existing confusion and division."

A few observers expressed an opinion that the initial proposals were made just to start off the bargaining. Others, however, said they believed both groups had made their final offers.

Those on the sidelines speculated on the possibility of President Roosevelt bringing pressure on both sides to force an agreement.

MAY ASK ACTION ON RELIEF LAWS

Large Population Centers Consider Plan to Match State Money For Aid of Needy

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 28.—Indications of a demand to the Ohio legislature for laws enabling cities to raise relief funds for matching state money came today from officials of large population centers. A special session probably will be called in December.

There was no objection to Gov. Martin L. Davey's insistence that local subdivisions bear part of the cost—only an uncertainty as to how the money could be raised.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland, saying "we believe in a sharing of the relief burden by state and local governments" asserted statute changes would be necessary before cities could secure the money.

City Manager C. O. Sherrill of Cincinnati approved matching and said his city had counted on such cooperation through a proposed one-half mill levy.

Mayor Myron B. Gessman of Columbus saw passage of a 24-mill extra levy next Tuesday as the only chance of raising relief money except for legislative action. He said Columbus would have to raise $450,000 to $500,000 a year for relief.

"I am in favor of a state-wide levy collectable by the state and returnable to its source," said Mayor Lee Schroy of Akron.

Finance Director Frank Barton of Youngstown offered a $250,000 bond issue as the only means of getting matching funds there. "The money just isn't here," he said.

Dayton City Manager F. O. Eichberger, saying he feared that many cities would lose state aid because of inability to raise matching funds, indicated he would support matching if a means of raising money were provided.

HEAR ADDRESS BY MSWEENEY

Salem Democrats Climax Campaign With Public Rally

Jack Rafferty, president of the Young Democratic club of Salem.

Sen. Taylor introduced each of the local Democratic candidates and spoke briefly about their records. He also read a letter from Congressman Lawrence Imhoff of the 18th district, who explained that he was unable to attend the meeting because of other business in Cleveland.

Candidates Take Bow
Candidates introduced were George McArtor, present councilman-at-large, who is seeking the mayoralty post; Dale Rafferty, candidate for city treasurer; Lyman Goodball, candidate for councilman-at-large; Russell Conkle, candidate for council from the first ward; Leo Edwards, candidate for council from the second ward; Charles Renkenberger, candidate for council from the third ward, and Fred Koerreich, candidate for council from the fourth ward.

Sen. Taylor spoke briefly about the three-mill tax levy for the operation of Salem public schools, urging members of his party to support this levy which has been in force for 20 years.

The Democratic program begins at home," Congressman McSweeney declared in pointing out the importance of local elections. "Government at home is your government," he added.

Here and There -:- About Town

Vocalists Are Busy

Mrs. Esther Odoran and Howard Arnold, vocalists, entertained yesterday at various meetings—one in the afternoon at Warren where the Warren Rotary club held a dinner meeting in the courthouse. Mrs. Paul Covert accompanied them.

About 200 Rotarians were present. Early last evening Mrs. Odoran and Arnold sang at a meeting of the club, returning to Millville to participate in a program for the Millville Community club.

Another engagement last night was at the meeting of the Salem Democratic club in the Memorial building. At the last three programs they were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Rahter of Wellsville.

Recent Births
Salem City hospital lists two births yesterday morning: A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Colananni of 265 North Ellsworth ave., and a son to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Arman of Deerfield.

Optometrists Meet
Dr. N. R. Pettay has returned from Columbus where he attended sessions of the Educational Congress of the Ohio State Optometric association.

Vandals Break Lights
Halloweeners were blamed by Police Chief Ralph Stoffer for breaking several street globes on South Lundy ave., and on West Tenth st., Wednesday night.

Cottage Prayer Meeting
Highland church cottage prayer meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin, near the church, at 8 p. m. Friday.

Accepts Position
Miss Mary Frances Juergens has accepted a position with the Salem Book shop, North Broadway.

WESTON, W. VA.
HIT BY FLOODS

WESTON, W. Va., Oct. 28.—Floodwaters of West Fork river swept lowlying streets of this city of 10,000 today as steady rains throughout the central West Virginia area sent streams surging out of their banks.

Route 19, from Clarksburg to Weston, was under water at nearby Haleville and motorists were forced to detour by the way of Berlin, Lewis county.

More than an inch of rain fell in Clarksburg yesterday and the West Fork was reported rising steadily there. At Fairmont, 25 miles below Clarksburg, the Monongahela river was creeping up at two-tenths of a foot an hour.

Near Wheeling, streams were rising but weather observers said they did not believe there was danger of floods unless the rain continued.

Freedom Ended
DAYTON, Oct. 28.—Sixteen years freedom under a fugitive charge ended today for Archie M. Blood, alias William E. Williams, 41, Detective B. S. Benner who arrested him said Blood was a fugitive from the London prison farm.

Idaho Publisher,
Son Lost In Wilds

STANLEY, Idaho, Oct. 28.—Mountain folk, wise in the treacherous of wilderness trails, beat through the nation's greatest wilderness area today in search of an Idaho newspaper publisher and his 10-year-old son, missing six days on a hunting trip.

Somewhere in Challis National forest area they hope to locate R. L. Cornwell of Jerome, Idaho, and his son, Dean.

"More'n likely," suggested an old-timer, "they wandered off on one of them game trails."

"But with their guns and packs they shouldn't be too bad off. There's thousands of deer, elk and other animals they can eat. There's plenty of water."

THEATER Attractions

The State theater presents "Live, Love and Learn" Friday and Saturday.

Robert Montgomery and Rosalind Russell, fresh from a dramatic triumph in "Night Must Fall," are teamed for the third time in the sort of love story, salted with madcap comedy, in which both achieved so great a success on the Broadway stage prior to their entry into motion pictures.

Wins Role as Julie
The two were seen together for the first time on the screen in "Trouble for Two." In "Night Must Fall" both gave an amazing demonstration of versatility in a tragedy picture. Miss Russell's solo success in "Craig's Wife" won her the coveted role of Julie, opposite Montgomery, in "Live, Love and Learn."

Robert Benchley, one of the best known and most widely laughed at comedians in America, steps from the sensational success of his short subjects and occasional featured parts in longer pictures to the most important role of his screen career, as Oscar, bibulous boon companion of Montgomery.

The supporting cast, headed by Helen Vinson as Lily, who tries to lure Montgomery from Miss Russell, includes Mickey Rooney, Monty Woolley, E. E. Clive, Charles Judels, Maude Eburne, Harlan Briggs, June Clayworth and Al Shean.

"Black Aces"
Buck Jones is starred in "Black Aces," which will be seen at the Grand Friday and Saturday.

In "Black Aces" Buck plays the part of a peaceful rancher. He prefers to ignore a band of black-mailers and killers who have terrorized the countryside—the fearful Black Aces. However, the outlaws pin one of their murders on him. Spurred into action by the prospect of being hanged, he turns on the gang and catapults himself into the midst of turbulent adventures that will quicken the calmest pulse. Concluding tonight are "Madam X" featuring Gladys George at the State; "Counsel for Crime," with Otto Kruger and Douglas Montgomery, and "It Happened in Hollywood" starring Richard Dix, at the Grand.

SALEM TO BATTLE LISBON IN SIXTH GRID GAME

Ball-Carriers Feature Associated Press All-America Roundup Quakers Make Last Night Appearance Of Season At Reilly Stadium Tomorrow

FRANK OF YALE CLASSED AMONG NATION'S BEST

Ohio's McDonald One of Leading Blockers In Big Ten

By ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Notwithstanding rain, snow and conditions generally calculated to make football life unhappy for ball-carriers, the All-America roundup of the week's best players in college football places and scoring touchdowns for the old Alma Mater.

With a bow to Vanlier's 60-minute line, chiefly responsible for mauling Louisiana State and featuring an All-America candidate for center in Captain Carl Hinkle, the fact remains that halfbacks monopolized the latest big-game headlines.

Nearing the halfway mark in the pursuit of all-star recognition, the backfield list of favorites includes the following talented young men:

Yale's Clint Frank, a 1936 All-America, who gave another superb all-round exhibition against Cornell; Bill Hutchinson, who tallied all three of Dartmouth's touchdowns against Harvard; Vic Botari, who crossed Southern California's goal line for California, the nation's top team; Bullet Bill Patterson, captain of Baylor's unbeaten and undefeated powerhouse; Marshall Goldberg of Pittsburgh, who had one of the best days against Wisconsin; Ben (Whizzer) White of Colorado, who tallied 23 points against Colorado State; Jack Pinge of Michigan State, a broken-field terror against Marquette; Jimmy Fenton and Henry Kelly, the twin ground-running sensations for Auburn, and Andy Parks, who has scored 11 touchdowns for Detroit's unbeaten outfit.

Two of the Big Ten's finest blockers were on opposite sides of Saturday's main event, with Ohio State's McDonald appearing in an edge over Northwestern's Fred Vanzo. Don Heap of a more spectacular ball-carrying Northwestern, but could not win the tide, even with the 213-yard Vanzo's help.

The passing show continues to feature the work of Dwight Sloan of Arkansas, Joe Kilgore of Alabama, Joe Gray of Oregon, and Sid Leland of Columbia, although these boys do not confine their work to the aerial game. Gray's all-around talents have been outstanding, even on a second-division club.

Hint of Vanderbilt so far looms conspicuously among the centers on counts, including leadership, mobility and play diagnosis. Two of the best pivot men were on view in the Polo Grounds Saturday, with Adolph of Texas Christian given edge by most critics over Fordham's Alex Wojciechowski.

Defensively, one of the season's best performances at end was registered Saturday by Jerome (Brud) Hland, Cornell Negro star. Hland was a "fifth man" in Yale's backfield much of the afternoon.

Southwestern conference has two top-notch wingmen in Andy Berke of North Carolina and Don Adams of Duke, the latter a converted back who specializes in kicking punts.

Two big reasons for California's conquering march, observers report, are the team's superlative back, Stockton and Evans. They completed to Post and Robesky, who raised havoc in Stanford's backfield some years ago.

Virgil (Brahma) Jones of Iowa A. M. is rated the standard guard in the Southwest conference. Others in this position who have caught expert eyes: Hooper, Cornell's kicking guard; Sivell, Auburn; McHenry, Utah; Minsky, Alabama; and Dubois, Navy.

This season has developed a lot of first-class tackles. Judging from the reports, Vanderbilt's Johnson was conspicuous for his lightning dash on a deception play Sunday. Frank (Bruiser) Kinard of Mississippi is rated by coaches of all teams as the best in the old South. Fordham has a stalwart in Franco and Babartsky.

Other tackles in the all-star spot this week included Schoenberger and Kaplanoff, Ohio State.

Golfers Await Crack At Montague

ASHEVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 28.—From Smith says the country's best golf pros are eager for a crack at the imposing links reputation of John Montague, "for most part of stakes."

One of the soundest strikers in money game—Smith, Harry Little, Jimmy Thomson and Lawton—want "Mysterious" to try his shots against the "Mystery" corps.

Smith, speaking for the foursome at an exhibition round at a private course, said today the generally recent the fact Montague has been widely hailed as a golfer.

Hold Dog Trials

WELSTON, Oct. 28.—Second dog derby results in the Ohio Hunters' association field trials showed Ranger, owned by Lantz of Sciotoville, first; owned by Mrs. John Hart of Amesville, second; Jimmie, owned by J. W. Supler of W. Va., third, and Grant, owned by Alex Par of Berea, Ky., fourth.

Baugh Thinks He'd Prefer Ball-Toting Over Passing

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Scratch the average millionaire, they say, and you find a guy who always yearned to be a fireman and wear red suspenders.

Sammy Baugh, who turned his passing ability into big business, is no different. He always wanted to carry the ball, but they couldn't let him until now.

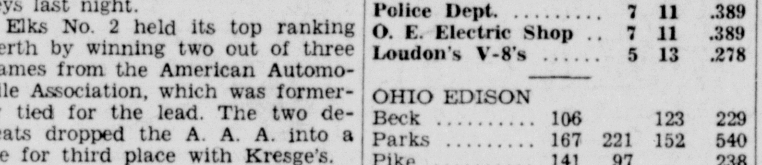

Sammy made the shy admission at the coming-out party thrown for him here by Dan Topping, wealthy young president of the Brooklyn football Dodgers. Baugh's modesty, incidentally, made an obvious impression on his audience, which is accustomed to hearing the personal pronoun bandied about.

"I like running with the ball better than passing it," the former T. C. U. terror told them. "I guess it's because you can see 'em hittin' you. You don't get up wonderin' who it was knocked your head off that time."

The man who is drawing a fancy salary from the Washington Redskins solely because of his ability to sling strikes with a football, acted real embarrassed when they kept asking him about how he learned to pass, but he became expansive the moment somebody observed that he also had proved himself a very handy ball-carrier.

Sammy says he likes the pro game better than the college game because, as a rule, it's more offensively and the competition consistently tougher. They hit a man much harder, he claims. However, he wouldn't admit the pass-receivers are any better than the young men who caught his aerials at Texas Christian.

"I had some great ones with me down there, else I wouldn't be here now."

BOWLING RESULTS

Winning three games from Mullins, the Ohio Edison climbed into a tie with Elks No. 2 for first place in the Masonic Ladies Bowling League at the Masonic temple all night.

Elks No. 2 held its top ranking berth by winning two out of three games from the American Automobile Association, which was formerly tied for the lead. The two defeats dropped the A. A. into a tie for third place with Kresges's.

No changes were made in the leaders of the pastime league at the Grate Recreation drives last night, although the second-place Citizens' Ice & Coal quintet lost two out of three games to the Police Dept.

Mrs. Paul Covert of the Elks No. 2 team turned in the best single game score for the night, rolling 209 to tie the league record set last week by Mrs. Margaret Detimore.

CHICAGO HOPES TO SPANK OHIO TEAMS SATURDAY

Maroons Figure They've Got to Whip Someone And Maybe Bucks

By WILLIAM WEEKES
CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Chicago's brave little band may be just a soft touch in Ohio State's road to the Big Ten football title, or a share thereof, but the Maroons don't believe it.

The Chicago team is so undermanned that Coach Clark Shaughnessy has had to teach almost every member of the squad the duties of two or more positions. They haven't won a game this year in three starts—against Vanderbilt, Wisconsin and Princeton. They don't figure to give the powerful Buckeyes an even mildly troublesome afternoon Saturday.

But, they have gone about preparing for the tussle in the manner of a team with a good chance of winning. They figure they are going to beat someone and it might as well be a team as good as Ohio State's. Shaughnessy does not look for a victory, although he feels his boys should make a battle of it.

In another spirited session yesterday, the Maroons displayed precision and their best power of the season. The Buckeyes polished off their offense, stressing passes which did not operate to Coach Francis Schmidt's satisfaction last week against Northwestern.

Illinois whipped through a final hard session of the maneuvers it will use against Michigan Saturday, with Bob Zupke's starting backfield of Jack Berner, Jay Wardley, Bob Wehrli and Howie Carson, intact and functioning at top speed for the first time of the week. The Wolverines finished up with an effective defensive demonstration against a variety of forward passing plays.

Notre Dame's linemen were drilled in fast charging against Minnesota formations, while the Gophers worked again with only the coaching staff looking on. At Indiana, Coach Bo McMillin sought an offensive to supplement the passing attack the Hoosiers will spring on Nebraska.

Iowa's varsity gave its best demonstration of spirit and power since losing to Wisconsin two weeks ago, in the last stiff workout in preparation for Purdue. Coach Mal Elward made more shifts in the Boilermaker lineup as he sought to fashion a defense capable of stopping Nile Kinnick, Iowa's sensational sophomore back.

Tony Gradinski tore off a pair of long touchdowns runs as Harry Stuhldreher strove to brighten up Wisconsin's running attack before encountering Northwestern. The Wildcats drove through an offensive session in which George McCurn and Jay Lasky were groomed as possible replacements for Fullback Jack Ryan who has played all but a few minutes of three major games.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Micky Walker, former welterweight champion, is battling 1,000 as master of ceremonies in a W. 48 st. cafe.... Casey Stengel must be slipping.... He'll get $3,000 less for managing the Bees next year than he got for not managing the Dodgers.... Down south the boys are trying to raise dough to get aboard the Florida Alligators in 1938-39.... Operatives report Josh Cody has got himself a freshman team from away back yonder.... Only trouble is, most of the guys are from up this way, and sport names that give the sports scribes fits, such as Paulauskie, Koolosky, Reinschmidt, Batista, Zdzanyskas, etc.... (Time out for air!)

Lou Ambers, the lightweight king is back in town after a month's hunting trip on which he killed—three pheasants.... The father of Johnny Dundee, once a great featherweight champion, died yesterday.... Big Bill Dwyer plans to spend $75,000 improving his tropical park racing plant at Miami this winter.... Two famous names—James Fennimore Cooper and Billie Burke—form an effective end combination for the Marquette football team.

The racing business must be expensive, at that.... Two other millionaires will soon follow C. V. Whitney's lead and get out.... Bob Quinn of the Boston Bees used the telephone on two occasions 44 months apart to sign the same manager.... On 1934 he called Casey Stengel at Glendale, Cal., to land Casey for the Dodgers, and the other day he called Casey at Omaha, Neb., to offer him the Boston berth.... Fordham's jump into North Carolina today marks the first time in three years the Rams have left New York to play a football game.

Against Texas Christian last week, Fordham used two backfield combinations.... One consisted of three sophomores and a senior and the other of three veterans and one sophomore.... The reason Henry Armstrong is a favorite to trim Pete Sarac tomorrow night is that since the first of the year the west coast Negro has scored kayos in 21 of his 22 fights.... ### ALLIANCE Host To Canton Saturday ALLIANCE, Oct. 28.—Alliance will be the schoolboy football capital of Ohio Saturday when its Aviators entertain the undefeated and unscored upon Canton McKinley Bulldogs.

McKinley has posted six straight victories and scored 186 points to none for its opponents.

On the strength of its record, McKinley will be a heavy favorite to win the Aviators. Canton will be without the services of its best running back, Capt. Jack Barthel, for the second straight week. Barthel missed the Dover game last week and the Canton offense bogged down.

Arrangements are being made to accommodate 8,000 spectators at the game, which will be played in the Mount Union stadium.

The contest will be the second of the annual three-way Stark county series involving Canton, Massillon and Alliance for the county Class A championship.

Alliance Poloists Point For Miami

ALLIANCE, Oct. 28.—Will Smith and Capt. Chet Gibbons of the Alliance Polo club are enroute to Miami, Fla., where they will play with Roy Evans' Miami malloteers next Sunday.

Cleveland Is Jinx Job For Managers, Walsh Points Out

By DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—As a ball player, Steve O'Neill was something of a Cleveland hero—admired, sought after; in fact, pretty much the toast of the town. As a manager, he found very little tolerance and not too much respect, with the result that he's now head-out elsewhere, doubtless never to see Cleveland again in an official capacity.

Walter Johnson, ditto. They loved him as a once great pitcher and a man of sterling virtue, who felt, in taking the Cleveland job, that clean living and right thinking were bound to have their reward. But Walter is back on his farm in Maryland, listening to barnyard sounds that may not seem quite as raucous as a well-placed hoot from the left field bleachers.

Roger Peckinpaugh was strictly a resident institution who came back to the home town in the dim twilight of his active career, hailed as the Great Deliverer who would lead Cleveland into the top billing. He may still be there—but not as manager of the Indians.

Tris Speaker, greatest of outfielders, even won a pennant and world's championship in Cleveland's name—but why go on?

He's just another great name that flashed conspicuously upon the Cleveland scene for a time and then, as suddenly, was gone to join the Legion of the Lost. He isn't even in baseball any more. In other words, it has been a jinx job and yet Oscar Vitt gladly gave up a good and comparatively safe and snug spot in the Newark end of the inordinately wealthy New York Yankee system to take up O'Neill's forfeited toga and the only reason Tony Lazzeri didn't do the same was that apparently he wasn't asked. After many years as a minor league manager, Vitt probably thinks now that luck has broken his way at last.

Maybe so; but precedent says no. For one thing, it's probably the

Quakers Make Last Night Appearance Of Season At Reilly Stadium Tomorrow

Seven Lettermen In Starting Lineup Lisbon Will Send Against Salem; Game Will Be Feature Of Annual Mardi-Gras Event

Playing under the lights for the last time this season, Salem High school's Quakers battle Lisbon High's Blue Devils at Reilly stadium tomorrow night in the sixth game of their 1937 grid campaign.

Because Ohio scholastic rules prohibit night football after Nov. 1, the Quakers will wind up their after-dark activities against their perennial Columbiana county opponent.

The Quakers' remaining games with Dover, Sharon, Pa., and Alliance will be played in the afternoon. Two of these games, Dover and Alliance, are scheduled for Reilly stadium.

The Lisbon game was originally scheduled to be played at the county seat this season, but because local American Legion officials and business men wished a feature attraction for Salem's annual Mardi Gras celebration, the contest was transferred to Reilly stadium.

In order to give participants in tomorrow night's Mardi Gras parade plenty of time to get to the stadium, Faculty Manager Frederick E. Cope announced today that starting time for the game has been changed from 8 o'clock to 8:15.

Lisbon's state championship Class B band will march in the parade along with the Salem High school band. Both musical organizations will appear at the stadium following the parade and stage the usual half-time marching demonstrations.

Winner in three of six games to date, Lisbon will send a team which includes seven lettermen against the Quakers.

Nace was missing from the lineup last week because of a leg injury, but Coach Bickle expects him to be ready for action again tomorrow night.

Three players who won letters last year will probably break into the lineup during the game as substitutes. They are: Pete Maruco, 210-pound tackle; Ross DeSellen, halfback, and Dick McFarland, end.

Although large in appearance, the Lisbon first string team averages only 145 pounds in weight. Holleman, the right tackle, is the heaviest player of the first team line, weighing 160 pounds.

Lisbon's record thus far includes wins over East Palestine, Boardman and Sebring, a tie with Louisville and losses to East Liverpool and Minerva.

The Blue Devils victories were gained in their last three starts.

Intent on continuing the good performance they made last week against Wellsboro, the Quakers will be after their second win in a row and their third victory of the season.

Coach Carl Schroeder will probably start the same team that he did against Wellsboro, using Bill Schaeffer and Bob Minamyer at ends, Dick Beck and Leonard Bon-sall at tackles, Charles Wentz and Bob Kirchgessner at guards, Mike Cerbu at center and Stuart Wise, Bill Malloy, Ollie Olexa and Max Lutsch in the backfield.

The game will be the 28th played between the two schools. Salem has won 17 of the past contests while Lisbon has won eight. Two of the games ended in a tie.

LAZZERI MEETS WITH CUB BOSS

Conference May Solve Last Major League Mystery

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Owner Phil K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs and Tony Lazzeri, recently of the World Champion New York Yanks, had a date today to solve one of the last of major league baseball's big mysteries.

The mystery was what part, if any, Lazzeri, an American league stalwart for 12 seasons, will play in Wrigley's campaign to bring the National league championship back to Chicago.

Before the last world series, Lazzeri hinted that the 1937 season would probably be his last as an active player, provided a big league managing job turned up. After the series, Wrigley arranged with the Yankee management for Tony's release, saying he felt that an ambitious baseball man of the Lazzeri type would be a big help in the Cub organization. But, he also reiterated that Charlie Grimm, pilot of the club since midseason of 1932, would continue as the Cub's manager.

Beyond saying that he thought he wanted Lazzeri, Wrigley has given no hint of his plans. Lazzeri probably got an idea of what Wrigley wants in a telephone conversation 10 days ago, and was interested enough to make the trip from his home in San Francisco to talk it over with the Cub owner.

VITT ON SPOT

most exacting of all managerial jobs because the Cleveland public takes a very personal and sometimes poignant interest in just what transpires on its ball field. For another, the Indians, needing a second baseman and more catching, among other things, probably haven't as much ball team as a lot of people seem to think.

For a third, the luck just hasn't been running out there for a long time. This is seen, for example: Pitcher Johnny Allen gave up his appendix and maybe six weeks out of his baseball life; then came back to win fifteen straight. He went after his sixteenth and a tie for the league record on the final day of the campaign a five-hitter—and lost.

Bob Feller had a siege of sore-arm trouble; Bruce Campbell, the outfielder, has been seriously ill twice since coming to the club and Joe Vosmik, traded to the Browns, promptly hit .352. Paul Andrews couldn't win in Cleveland, came back to the Yankees and then couldn't lose. Earl Averil, a tremendous outfielder, once had a fire cracker go off in his hand.

Of course, there has been more, considerably more. Maybe Mr. Vitt will change all that. But the record says that Cleveland is more likely to change Mr. Vitt.

Injured Mt. Union Players Are Back

ALLIANCE, Oct. 28.—There was considerable optimism in the Mount Union college football camp today as gridders went about their task of preparing for Friday night's Ohio Conference game with Ashland's Eagles here.

Ralph Rice, the Purple's only veteran back, and Johnny Cabas, triple threat sophomore, who have been on the hospital list several weeks, returned to duty.

The return of these two gridders is expected to add a scoring punch to the Purple offense.

"THE SILVER ROOD MYSTERY"

by Lewis Allen Browne

CHAPTER XXIX

"Did you see this man, Fellows, said to be Nola Morin's husband?" I asked Phil.

"Certainly I saw him, tall, good looking, around thirty I imagine."

"His hair?"

"Oh yes, reddish. Do you know him?"

"I know him—a crook or an ex-crook, anyway."

"That ought to help."

"I wouldn't comment. I was doing some rapid thinking, however."

"What is the chance of getting into his house?"

"Ought to be good. It's for sale. I could ask to see what it was like, inside."

"That's good, Phil. See what you can do about that. Keep in touch with me. Don't give your name—they would connect you with me—at least she would."

"Leave that to me."

"Find out what you can about this Mrs. Felder, the aunt who died recently and left the house to Morin. Especially, find out if she had a sister who came over from Switzerland about twenty-five years ago, who had a baby right after that."

"Twenty-five years is a long time ago, Harley."

"Some of those Hoboken families have lived there for generations. Some of the old-timers might know—the old women who love to gossip."

"I'll do what I can—anything else?"

"See if they call on a New York lawyer, J. J. Stager."

"I gave him that address."

"O. K. Now what?"

"That's plenty, Phil—only, keep in touch with me. If you can't get me, get Sally—she will give me any message. She's wise to what I'm doing and trying to do."

Phil hustled back to Hoboken. I went to Newark, flew to Meadowville and was driven back to Greatport shortly after dark.

When I went in to see Sergeant Harper he was greatly disturbed.

"Know where Morin is?" he barked at me. I grinned at him.

"Bark at your own sleuths, Sergeant. My kid brother didn't lose her."

"Where is she? What the devil is your kid brother mixing in this for?"

"Jot this down," I said, and gave him the address.

He said the same thing I had said to Phil. "She may not be there now."

"She will be there, it's her own house. She's living there with her husband—"

"Husband?"

"Well, she calls herself Mrs. Felders."

"Now, what about your kid brother? How the devil could both Burke and Ellison have let her slip off that train?"

Sergeant Harper was relieved to know where to find Morin, but decided chagrined that his two county detectives had fallen down. I explained that Mrs. Stapleton was financing this extra investigation, and made him see how anxious she was to keep the claims of Nola Morin out of the courts.

He reached for the telephone and had one of his men on the line in a few minutes, from a small New York hotel. He gave them the address and, at my suggestion, described Phil and told him not to interfere with whatever he was doing.

"Now what, Mr. Stevenson?" he asked.

"Sit tight and wait for reports. It won't be long before Nola Morin or Mrs. Fellows, or whatever her real name may be, will come back here with her proofs and see Judge Wentworth."

"Did you tip her who to see?"

"Not a word, but it was in the local papers, I mean, who the executors are. The girl's clever enough to find out that way, if she hadn't found out some other way."

"I've been thinking over what she said, when she knocked us almost coo-coo with her claim that she was Montie's daughter. She said she didn't want to go to a lawyer and pay a lot, if she could settle it without that. And you heard Fellows tell her to meet him at Stagers."

"She said a lot that wasn't so. My guess is that they may have got information from Stager as to how to go about trying to settle—make the executors come across."

"But, Mr. Stevenson, why should Fellows plan to meet her there, when they have a home in Hoboken?"

"You answer that one. The chances are, Morin wasn't sure that we would let her leave. He, Fellows, said he would set a date for her later, when she found out about her quitting notice."

"That's probably the size of it. Foxcroft's getting nervous about Griswold again, says if we let him drive around the way he does he'll be slipping out on us."

"None. He drive out with Mary. If he tried to slip away she would be wise that he is the guilty party." I told Foxcroft the conversation I had with Griswold.

"Foxcroft will pin it on him, if he can."

"Not without sufficient proof, he isn't that sort, Sergeant. As I told you before he probably hopes Griswold did it. That's because he is in love with Mary."

"Oh, he wouldn't do anything crooked—he's a bright guy, and for a youngster he's already gone a long ways."

"It ought to be about time we got some report from abroad."

"It's not so easy, chasing around looking for an art dealer—they're thicker than insurance agents over here."

And so we had to let matters rest for a few days. Phil telephoned me the following day. Nola Morin and Fellows had visited the office of J. J. Stager, had been in there about an hour. Then they went to a place down near the Village and had a sort of celebration, were rather tipsy when they got home. He had not had the opportunity to get into the house, but hoped to do so.

I advised him to be cautious or they would spot him as trailing them.

"They didn't suspect me, I don't look like a flat-foot, Harley, and I wear different hats and clothes and phony glasses, now and then. I think they're wise to your county dicks, though."

"How about any line on the late Mrs. Felder?"

"Not much, yet. She was a nice, quiet old lady, I hear, a widow, no children, around sixty."

"How about a younger sister coming over?"

"I haven't any line yet, I'll have to dig up some old-timers who were neighbors back in those days."

"Keep at it."

"This isn't very hot, Harley."

"Not now. Wait until her proofs are presented. I give a guess you'll have to do some tall investigating."

"That's better."

Mrs. Stapleton was interested in what I reported about Nola Morin. "Do you remember what this little Mrs. Nola Lutzmann's sister was named?" I asked.

"No, I may have heard the name, but I haven't the slightest idea. However, it does fit in, doesn't it? We knew the girl had an older sister."

Later I thought of something I had forgotten to tell Phil and I went back to the house and put in a call for him. I didn't expect to reach him at his little Hoboken hotel, but left word for him to call me. He did this at dinner time.

Mason informed me that it was for me. He was overseeing the serving of dinner.

"Phil," I said, "find out if the girl was ever seen at the Felder house before the old lady died."

Mason, standing by the archway, turned and looked at me, but looked away again when he saw me glance up at him. All the servants, I realized, were boiling over with curiosity.

Phil promised.

Mrs. Stapleton drove over to see Judge Wentworth on two occasions. I could see that she was greatly worried over the situation. She told me that if it were humanly possible, a settlement would be made, providing it was necessary, without Mary's knowledge. She didn't say, outright, but intimated that she would pay over what was demanded from her own fortune which, I was well aware, would never be missed, as it was far greater than the immense fortune of her late brother.

"I want you on hand, Mr. Stevenson," she said, "when, and if, this Morin woman comes to Judge Wentworth's with her alleged proofs."

"Good enough. And don't have any false hopes, she will show up all right," I assured her.

I was well pleased that I would be present when Nola Morin presented her proofs. It would enable me to give all the leads to Phil to follow up and verify.

After dinner I drove to Greatport to see Wally Foxcroft. I wanted him to know what I was doing and what Phil had made out. Sergeant Harper, like Foxcroft, had other duties aside from working on this case, and he might not have told him all the details.

After I had explained about Morin's aunt, Mrs. Felder, and pointed out that Mrs. Nola Lutzmann, twenty-five years ago, had been brought over and left with an aunt in Hoboken, Foxcroft shook his head at me.

"It begins to shape up like the real thing," he said. "My idea is that this old aunt might never have told Morin who she was, but had left the information for her so that she would know, after the old lady was gone. In that case, Morin wouldn't have killed Montie, just as she pointed out. All of this brings us back to Griswold, as I said, all along."

"Or to Professor Lardeau. We ought to be hearing from your cousin, Colton, by this time—some little cabled word."

"He wouldn't waste a sou on a cable unless he had something to report."

We went out for a game of billiards and a couple highballs. It was nearly midnight when I drove back and there was no night garage man at my father-in-law's place. I put up the car and saw Davison and Mason in the back yard, smoking and talking.

"Are you any nearer a solution, sir, might I ask?" Davison inquired.

"Not much, Davison. We are waiting to hear from that queer chap who stole the painting."

Mason dropped his pipe but caught it before it struck the ground. He brushed away the sparks.

"Oh, yes, sir, Lardeau was the name on the card, I remember. I've had a feeling, all along, that he is the man you gentlemen want."

"I'll say," I added. "Good night," and started across the grass.

"You never told me his name before!" I heard Mason say with such sharpness that I was surprised.

"I thought I did—but names matter little," Davison replied quietly.

"That is right, of course," I heard Mason strike a match for his pipe, and I smiled. They were as curious and as interested in all of it as we.
